

Please do not allow telemarketing to gain more strength. This is the most intrusive and annoying form of marketing that has been invented. No private person that I am aware of including myself actually thinks this type of system works, so why promote it? It brings out bad emotions when at home trying to relax after a long day at work. The next steps should be to completely eliminate this type of marketing all together!